

Ecology in our life

In recent years, words such as clear air, environmental protection or save energy have become trendy. Everybody recommends organic food, healthy lifestyle. Everything must be ecological. There are more and more articles about the ozone hole and carbon dioxide in newspapers. However, few people practise eco lifestyle (saving water, recycling). For example: people want to spend weekends on a clean beach or in a nice forest, but they leave rubbish everywhere. It makes no sense! Let's remember that taking care of our planet, we care about ourselves. It's so easy! Just turn off the light when you go out of the room and buy cosmetics not tested on animals.
